WHO WE ARE

A small consultancy with a direct line to the person doing the work.

Mwazisi Consulting is a Lusaka-based IT consultancy and managed services provider. We look after the computers, email, backups and data of Zambian organisations, so their teams can get on with their work.

We work with NGOs, development programmes, professional firms and growing businesses that need dependable IT without a full-time IT department. As a licensed Data Processor, we also help organisations meet their obligations under the Data Protection Act.

Every engagement is led by our Principal Consultant, Sam Gondwe. Clients deal directly with the person doing the work, not a call centre.

OUR APPROACH

Four steps, in this order.

Every engagement starts by understanding what you have and ends with a report you can read.

STEP 1

Assess

We review your devices, accounts, backups and risks, and agree priorities with you.

STEP 2

Set up

We fix the basics: monitoring, patching, backup and access, documented as we go.

STEP 3

Support

Your staff get a clear route to help, with issues logged and tracked to closure.

STEP 4

Review

A regular report shows what was done, what is open and what to plan for next.

Ways to work with us

Monthly retainer

A fixed monthly fee covering agreed support hours, with a timesheet sent with every invoice.

Quoted project

A fixed scope and price, ending with documentation, a handover session and 30 days of support.

Ad hoc support

On-site visits in Lusaka or remote sessions when you need them, billed per visit.

Why clients choose us

- Direct access
  You work with the consultant doing the work, not a queue.
- Compliance built in
  Signed authorisations, data handling terms and chain-of-custody records where data is involved.
- Everything written down
  Timesheets, inventories and handover notes double as an audit trail for donors and boards.
- Works with your partners
  We coordinate with head-office IT teams, internet providers and suppliers on your behalf.
